

Schizophrenia Research
Foundation

Attention! Print Journalists

SCARF MEDIA FOR MENTAL HEALTH AWARDS 2017 (Fifth edition)

BEST ARTICLES ON MENTAL HEALTH

The awards recognize a distinguished body of work that has contributed to "Mental Health Awareness".

Have you published an article that addresses the importance of mental health or the disorders of the mind or on the discrimination of the mentally ill? If yes, then share it with us.

Total prize money for English/Indian Language/Online
categories:
First Prize - Rs.10,000/-
Second Prize - Rs.6,000/-
Third Prize - Rs.4,000/-

Last Date for entries:
30th September, 2017

RULES FOR SENDING ENTRIES

Print Journalists (including freelancers) who have had their story on mental health published in any newspaper or magazine are eligible to participate. The article should have been published in an Indian National or Regional newspaper or magazine between April 2016 and March 2017 in English or any Indian language.

Applicants must submit entries that focus on or highlight one or more aspects of mental health such as disorders of the mind (depression, anxiety, schizophrenia, etc), mental health care delivery, stigma and discrimination, effective interventions, family and community support programs and policies, funding etc. News reports and articles on lifestyle and stress-related problems, such as call-centre woes, marital problems etc will not qualify.

If the article is in an Indian language, an English translation should be provided. Entries should be sent by 30th of September 2017. The decision of the jury will be final. The results will be announced by SCARF by the 10th of October, 2017.

Please send your entries to info@scarfindia.org
 For any queries,
 call us on +91 9884014197/
 044-2615 3971/044-2615 1073
 Please register online at www.scarfindia.org